UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States told Communist Czechoslovakia today it has revoked the diplomatic status of Miroslav Nacvalac, Czech diplomat accused of spying. It said he now is subject to deportation as an alien illegally in the United States.

A messenger from the U.S. mission delivered a note to that effect to the Czechoslovak mission.

The note declared that under the laws and regulations of the United States, Nacvalac "may elect either to depart voluntarily, or in lieu of such voluntary departure, be removed."

This was a warning that if he resisted Nacvalac would be subject to arrest and forcible deportation.

The note followed Tuesday night's U.S. charges that Nacvalac was an espionage agent and that the United States had pictures as proof of his activities.

Dag Hammarskjöld, U.N. secretary general, was caught in a cross-fire from the United States and Czechoslovakia over the spy charges.

Agreement on Laos Is Some Nearer

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ZURICH, Switzerland — (AP) — The military strongman of Laos' pro-Western government announced today that virtual agreement had been reached on unifying the fighting forces of his nation's three rival factions.

"Some points remain to be discussed, but they are minor ones," said Gen. Phoumi Nosavan after working session of key advisers to the politician princes who are holding a summit meeting in this Swiss city.

Nosavan said the three sides had agreed on most problems connected with integrating the country's armies.

This indicated that one of the most important obstacles to agreement among the three sides had been virtually overcome.

But it appeared to leave unsettled the problem of administering provinces now under military control by the pro-Communist forces.

Phoumi's statement was echoed by Quinim Phosana who represents Prince Souvanna Phouma's neutralist faction. "There are more reasons to be optimistic today," he said.

Phoumi Vongvichit of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels acknowledged that there had been a "certain rapprochement." But he declined to assess the chances for success of the meeting.

In Geneva, 200 miles away, delegates from Western and Communist nations argued about ways to make Laos independent and neutral, with the Communists adamantly opposing anything that would prevent the Reds taking over the little Southeast Asian kingdom.

In Laos, on the other side of the world, officials of the pro-Western government in Vientiane reported that troops of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao were making probing attacks on the royal government troops and Meo tribesmen who withdrew from Pading June 7 after a Pathet Lao artillery and infantry assault.

Bond Struggle Continues Amid Indications One Source of Revenue to Go to Court Test

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Opponents of Gov. Orval E. Faubus' proposed $60 million construction bond issue continue their efforts to defeat the measure amidst indications that one source of revenue for the program faces a court test.

Paul Sullins of Crossett said Tuesday that the 1961 act which tightened use tax exemptions and pledged the increased revenues to help retire the bond issue may be challenged in court within the next two months.

Sullins said he expects the suit to be filed regardless of the outcome of the June 27 vote on the bond issue plan.

"The legislature apparently would have to enact other tax measures to replace the lost revenue in the event the use tax measure is voided," Sullins said.

The use tax is in effect a sales tax on purchases made outside the state. A test of the act, Sullins said, would be valuable even if it only resulted in a clearer interpretation of the law.

Joshua K. Shepherd of Little Rock, chairman of the anti-bond program Arkansas Committee for the Public Schools, will discuss the bond issue in an appearance today before the staff of the state Education Department.

Arnold Stikes, Faubus' aide who is directing the bond campaign, and University of Arkansas President David W. Mullins earlier appeared before the Education Department to plug the program.

Eugene H. Warren, attorney for the anti-bond Arkansas Education Association, is scheduled to make a television appearance at El Dorado tonight to continue his opposition.

Warren said in a Hot Springs television appearance Tuesday night the public should be told how much would be needed in the way of additional maintenance and operating expenses if the bond issue is approved.

He noted that present buildings at the University of Arkansas and the seven state-supported colleges are valued at $35 million and said the 1961 legislature appropriated $13,200,000 for their maintenance and operation.

"If we assume that maintenance and operating expenses will continue in the same proportions," Warren said, "then it will cost $15,750,000 additional to staff, maintain and operate $42 million in additional buildings."

"College want lists and college emergency needs are two entirely different sheets of paper," Rep. Virgil Butler of Independence County said Tuesday in urging a pay-as-you-go construction program instead of the $60 million bond program.

"If the governor, bond brokers and ballyhoos will junk their inflated want lists and then step aside long enough for legislative action," Butler said in a prepared statement, "I believe the emergency needs of our institutions can be dealt with."

If the bond issue is enacted it will mean new taxes he said. "They will be enacted in the name of welfare, schools and other things to replace shortages created by collection agents of the bond grabbers."

There has been much talk of using surplus state funds for construction rather than committing the state to the bond issue plan. The state Comptroller's office said Tuesday that there will be $14,212,178 in surplus funds when the present fiscal year ends June 30.

All bills must be met and — the state's permanent reserve fund restored to a safe level before any funds can be labeled as surplus, the comptroller's office said.

The reserve fund amounts to one-twelfth the state's annual expenditures under the Revenue Stabilization Act. The 1961-62 reserve fund will be $8,573,333, the comptroller's office said.

High Bids on Millwood Are Rejected

Tulsa — The start of construction on the Millwood Dam on the Little River in Southwest Arkansas will be delayed because bids on the initial phase of the work were considered too high.

The Army Engineers rejected all bids offered on the construction of a two-mile access road which they had estimated would cost $200,000. The project will be re-advertised later.

The road in question would run from Ashdown to the Dam site.

Adenauer to Visit Berlin

By MAX HARRELSON

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has decided to visit West Berlin July 12-13 despite Communist objections, the government reported today.

It will be the first visit in more than a year and a half for the West German chancellor. The western sector of the city, lying deep within Communist East Germany, is the target of a long-range Soviet diplomatic offensive aimed at driving out the West. Adenauer's decision is regarded as a show of support for West Berlin's ties with West Germany.

Eichmann Places Blame on Superiors

By THOMAS A. REEDY

JERUSALEM, (AP) — Adolf Eichmann took his Israel judges through the jungle of the Nazi wartime government machinery today and emerged with the claim he had less to do with the slaughter of the Jews than almost anyone else in the sprawling setup.

The former Gestapo lieutenant colonel, testifying for the second day in his own defense, declared:

1. His office, Section IV-B-4 of the Reich Security Office, dealt only with "emigration and evacuation" of the Jews.

2. The extermination plan which resulted in the deaths of six million Jews came from the top police and Foreign Ministry levels and was administered by them.

3. Eichmann's own deputies in the field took their orders from the Gestapo commanders there "subject to the jurisdiction of the chief of the Nazi diplomatic mission."

With amazing memory, Eichmann expounded at length on the exact chain of command. Twice Presiding Judge Moshe Landau chided him for the "exaggerated length" of his sentences. Defense counsel Robert Servatius urged Eichmann to be a bit briefer.

The defendant flatly denied the charge that he was the sparkplug of the Nazi death mills. On the contrary, Eichmann said his bureau was only a tool of the higher SS and security police, both in the Berlin headquarters and in the occupied countries.

Eichmann submitted his own detailed plan of the Gestapo framework.

It showed various aspects of the anti-Jewish program handled by other offices: II-B, which he said "dealt very closely with the gas vans and the gassing;" III-A, "responsible for preparing the legal basis for various operations;" III-B-3, 4 and 5, which he said ruled on mixed Jewish marriages and "what was to be done with the offspring."

Eichmann said that Hans Globke, an official of the Nazi Interior Ministry who now is West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's personal aide, and another Interior Ministry official named Herring initiated "efforts toward withdrawal of citizenship (from Jews) and confiscation of Jewish property."

"This is proved beyond doubt by one of the documents submitted here," the defendant declared.

A former Nazi official in Greece previously had charged that Globke persuaded Eichmann to reject a proposal to let 10,000 Greek Jewish women and children go to Palestine, but the West German state prosecutor's office cleared Globke of the charge last month. Adenauer himself has said that Globke remained in the Interior Ministry under the Nazis because the prewar Catholic Center party wanted him to report on the Nazis and resist them whenever possible.

Germans Surprised at Testimony

BONN, Germany (AP) — West German officials professed surprise today at Adolf Eichmann's claim that Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's right-hand man, Hans Globke, took part in World War II persecution of Jews.

Neither Adenauer nor other high officials would comment on Eichmann's testimony at his trial in Jerusalem today that Globke initiated "efforts toward withdrawal of citizenship (from Jews) and confiscation of Jewish property."

Stevenson Misses Stones Meant for Him

By MAX HARRELSON

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Against a background of bombs and student stone-throwers who couldn't recognize their targets, Adlai E. Stevenson planned a final full round of talks with Colombian officials today to close out his 10-nation tour of South America.

President Kennedy's special envoy arrived Tuesday to find Bogota under tight security guard against leftist demonstrations.

Just before Stevenson flew in from Ecuador, students stoned the automobile of visiting Spanish Minister of Commerce Alberto Ullastres as it passed the National University. Later a group of students hurled stones at passing French and Lebanese embassy cars, apparently thinking they belonged to Stevenson's party.

Stevenson landed at the old Techo Airport without incident and was not exposed to the students. Heavy concentrations of police had diverted attention to the new International Airport in another direction.

Two bombs went off Tuesday, one in downtown Bogota and another two blocks from the presidential palace where Stevenson was dining.

Two unexploded bombs were found at the Bogota Country Club. Stevenson dined with President Alberto Lleras Camargo and was reported to have found him eager for a meeting of Latin American Foreign ministers on hemisphere political problems.

Stepup in Road Work Seen

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A stepup in Arkansas work on interstate highway projects is envisioned in the $54 million state highway construction program budgeted for the fiscal year which begins July 1.

Highway Director R. F. Oliver said Tuesday almost 70 per cent of the money would go toward federal interstate construction.

Oliver said the budget is based on an increase in federal matching funds.

Arkansas was allocated $10,119,000 for the first quarter of the fiscal year. Oliver said this was $2,600,000 more than expected.

"In the past 20 years, little league baseball has grown to one of the most dynamic youth movements of our time and is now enjoyed by nearly a million youths annually throughout the United States," Mr. Hamilton pointed out.

"As Kiwanians, we should be proud of the facilities which the local club provides annually at K-Park for hundreds of Hope youths that enjoy this outlet of healthful activity and training under good leadership," Mr. Hamilton pointed out.

Introduced as a new member was Ralph Waldo Emmerson, Southern Plow and Company salesman; and guests included Kim Caldwell, Newt Pentecost, Charles Gough, Charles Tripp, of all Hope; and Jack Royal of Lonoke.

Crazed Negro Shoots 2 to Death, Wounds 5 in Malvern Office

Miller Co. Man Kills Child, Self

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — A Miller County man who turned a pistol on himself after killing the youngest of his six children died en route to a Shreveport, La., hospital Tuesday.

The deaths of Ernest Green, 46, and Anita Green, 9, were ruled murder and suicide by Miller County Coroner Richard Birtcher.

Sheriff Rudy Burgess said Green apparently went berserk after an early morning argument with his wife during which Mrs. Green said he threatened to kill her.

Burgess said Green, who had been under a doctor's care for several weeks because of a nervous condition, took the child and a .22 caliber pistol and fled from his farm home near here.

Mrs. Green notified authorities and officers and volunteers began a search for the two, who had gone to a wooded area only a few hundred yards from the house.

Burgess said the pair apparently sat under a tree and watched the search operation for several hours before the double shooting.

Officers heard two shots and went to the tree, where they found the child's body and the fatally-wounded Green.

Special Co. Audit to Be Made Public

Officials of the Hempstead County Association for Better County Government said today that the recent audit which was paid for by certain citizens would be made public in the near future.

The audit was made available to the Hempstead County Grand Jury, which is presently in session, and the Citizens group did not think it proper to publicize the audit while it was being considered by the grand jury.

Certain civil suits have been filed to recover money and property which the citizens group contend belongs to the county. The action of the grand jury will have no effect on these civil suits, as the grand jury only considers possible criminal charges growing out of the transactions.

"Just as soon as the Grand Jury decides what action, if any, it wants to take on this audit, we will then release it to the press," James H. Pilkinton, attorney for the Citizens group said today. Mr. Pilkinton declined to say whether or not other civil suits will be filed.

The citizens group have recently incorporated as a non-profit corporation to be known as the "Association for Better County Government in Hempstead County."

The articles of incorporation stated that the group was interested in future as well as past events, and would dedicate itself to promoting better government, without regard to who held or did not hold county offices. It stated that it would not become involved in any political race, and would not sponsor any particular candidate.

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev warned today that if the United States resumes nuclear testing the Soviet Union will immediately do the same thing.

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev told a cheering rally in the Kremlin today that a peace treaty with Germany will be signed by the end of this year.

It was the most specific date he has given during the current crisis brought about by Soviet determination to force the Western allies out of West Berlin.

The rally was held to mark Thursday's 20th anniversary of the Nazi attack on the Soviet Union.

"The Soviet Union proposes to sign a peace treaty with Germany," Khrushchev declared, "and a peace treaty with Germany will be signed at the end of this year."

U. S. to Halt Shipments of Malasses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House sought today to halt any further shipments of molasses from Cuba, describing this trade as "not in the public interest."

The White House said negotiations are under way to provide the Publisher Chemical Corp. with surplus corn so that its New Orleans plant will not have to close down if Cuban molasses shipments are halted.

A principal product of the plant is industrial alcohol which can be made from molasses or corn. The plant also produces cattle feed in which molasses is used.

In announcing the White House moves, press secretary Pierre Salinger emphasized that President Kennedy does not regard the molasses deal between Cuba and Publisher as in the public interest.

Salinger said the Treasury Department now is looking into a complaint that the Cuban molasses is being sold at "dumping prices," or at a price not reflecting actual cost.

If it is found that this is so, further shipments can be halted under tariff laws.

Myer Feldman, a White House lawyer who has been looking into the matter for the President, said one objection to purchases of Cuban molasses is that it provides Fidel Castro's dictatorship "with some additional funds."

Salinger said 2,018,428 gallons of molasses unloaded near New Orleans Tuesday represented only a small part of the original order placed by Publisher.

The shipment was valued at $201,842.40 by customs agents compared with an original $12 million order, Salinger said.

The shipment just unloaded brought protests to the White House from Louisiana members of Congress.

The White House promptly announced that Kennedy had ordered an investigation.

They Just Didn't Watch Pay TV

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Walter Elliott of Toronto, a professional poll-taker testified today that 34 to 49 per cent of pay television owners in Toronto watched no pay TV programs during two recent survey periods.

Elliott appeared before the Arkansas Public Service Commission on behalf of theater owners who are opposing a proposed pay television experiment in Little Rock.

Elliott said a survey conducted last October showed 34 per cent of the families with pay TV did not watch any show for an entire week. The figure was 49 per cent in a March survey, he said.

The surveys showed, Elliott said, that the average family spent 81 cents a week for pay TV programs.

Midwest Video Corp., has asked PSC to require Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. to install transmission lines and other equipment for the Little Rock experiment.

Bell witnesses told the commission Monday that it would cost $250,000 to install the equipment and it would have to charge Midwest $7,320 a month for the services.

Bell also wants Midwest to post some kind of bond for 10 years to guarantee payment.

Editor The Star: My wife and I have recently come to Hope from the upper Midwest. In the very recent past I have made 9 cities my home for varying lengths of time. No doubt about it, Hope is by far the friendliest place we know.

I couldn't name all the people who have gone out of their way to make us feel at home. Perhaps I shouldn't try because I'm sure others would have done the same had they the opportunity. The people of Hope may well be proud of this tradition and perhaps the Chamber of Commerce is missing a bet by not billing Hope, Arkansas as "The Friendliest City in the USA."

REVENGE WITHOUT MUSIC

By LESER ARNO

The Old Hack and The Young Writer stood watching at the corner. A little woman pushed a battered street-piano to a stop at the curb.

The instrument stood on warped wheels, its tortured insides covered by a faded piece of canvas secured by a worn rope. She set the hand crank in place and began turning it.

"I should like to do a piece about the poor, old crane," said Horace, The Young Writer. "I should like to tell her tragic story."

"And how do you know it is a tragic tale?" asked Homer, The Old Hack.

"She came from Venice as a child. She still remembered the sons of the gondoliers. And she sang them in her first happy years in Chicago. Then she married a handsome young Sicilian and she bore him six children. And he was killed in one of the old gang wars of Prohibition. And her children married or died or moved away. And now she is alone with her street piano and the few pennies she can earn each day from the back-breaking labor of pushing it from her home on Taylor Street. She goes out early each day and pushes her street piano and she returns to her house at night, exhausted, spent. Then she cranks up a carefully polished phonograph. One of the old-fashioned kind. And she tenderly places a recording of the great Enrico Caruso on the worn felt turntable and lovingly guides the tone arm to the first groove. Caruso's voice fills the squalid room.

Horace, The Young Writer, was silent for a moment. And then he said, almost to himself, "I will call that vignette 'Twilight of Song.'"

"Here is my story," he said. "She came from Venice as a child. But she did not remember the songs of the gondoliers. For she hated music. She hated music as she hated everything. She was one of those who are born bitter. One of the queer ones who are of this earth yet never a part of it. "Finally she ran away from home and never returned. She found a room in the basement of a tenement. There she made her abode. She scavenged alleys and brought the flotsam and jetsam of a thousand trash cans to her room.

"One day she found you old street piano. Abandoned. Since

Hearings on Programming in TV Start

NEW YORK (AP)—A series of hearings opened here today as part of the Federal Communications Commission's effort to determine whether changes should be made in television programming.

First to be heard was a group of writers. Scheduled to follow are producers, entertainers, directors, and representatives of advertisers and the networks.

The hearings are expected to last about two weeks with James D. Cunningham, chief hearing examiner for the FCC, in charge.

Kenneth A. Cox, chief of the FCC Broadcast Bureau, said in an opening statement that the inquiry was another phase in the commission's over-all program begun in 1959. About 100 witnesses appeared at previous hearings here and in Washington.

He said the purpose is to "provide the commission, the owners, the industry and the public with a sound factual basis for considering whether action is needed on the part of the government or the industry to effect changes in the public interest."

The first witness, writer Erick then she has used it as an instrument of revenge upon a world she hates." The Old Hack paused.

"But surely there is more to your cynical story?" The Young Writer asked.

"Yes," the other agreed. "My story has more to it. It has an end as did yours. I, too, follow this old woman as she pushes her piano in the dark of night. I follow her home. And I enter her home with her. But I find no old polished phonograph. No recordings of Caruso."

"In my story, I find amidst the squalor a modern television set. I see her walk toward it. I see her turn the switch that turns on the picture tube. I see the tube slowly light up and an image come upon it. I see her switch the channels until she finds what she seeks. The face of a singer."

"And then I see her smile her crane's smile as she turns down the knob marked 'sound'. The singer grimaces and opens his mouth and closes his eyes and tosses back his head. But there is no sound in that hotel that is her home."

"No sound. For that is this miserable creature's vengeance on a world that is filled with wonderful sound and glorious music."

"She has stilled the sound of the world."

"I call my story 'Revenge Without Music.'"

New Suits in Race Fight Are Filed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five Negroes have filed what a Georgia state official says is probably the first federal court suit in the nation against segregated polling places.

The suit, filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court at Albany, Ga., seeks desegregation of polling places and voting lists in Albany and Dougherty County.

A deputy assistant state attorney general who specializes in segregation suits, Freeman Leverett of Elberton, said he knew of no such action filed in the past.

In other racial developments: Nine "Freedom Riders" arrived in Montgomery, Ala., but were not allowed to enter the Greyhound bus depot where officers were investigating an anonymous bomb threat. A spokesman said the biracial group would spend the night in Negro homes in the Alabama capital and continue to Jackson, Miss., by bus some time today.

Fourteen Freedom Riders left New Orleans by train to complete their trip from Berkeley, Calif., to Jackson, Miss., to integrate the Mississippi capital's train terminal or be jailed. When they reached Jackson the 11 white persons and 3 Negroes were arrested on breach of peace charges and convicted, bringing to 131 the number convicted since anti-segregation attempts began May 24. Sheriff J. R. Gilroy said Freedom Riders at Mississippi's State Penitentiary were not treated like felons as charged by an official of the Congress of Racial Equality.

At Memphis, Tenn., seven young Negroes arrested when they took seats at an Assembly of God youth rally were fined $200 each on charges of interfering with public worship.

The operators of Fountaine Ferry Park at Louisville, Ky., obtained a court order to restrict pro-integration picketing at the privately owned amusement park.

The president of Georgia Tech in Atlanta, pointing to a longtime policy, refused to explain to nine Negroes why the college rejected their applications for admission. Tech has admitted three Negroes

Barnow, complained that the television author today "has very little control over the final form of his work" when it is sponsored commercially.

"The situation is now," he said, "where the writer deals with an editor who relays suggestions from the advertising agency and sponsor — sometimes conflicting slightly with each other."

Gen. Taylor May Join JFK's Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former Army chief of staff, is being considered for a post on President Kennedy's staff, the White House said today.

Andrew T. Halcher, assistant press secretary, declined to describe the nature of the job.

Taylor, who retired as Army chief of staff in 1959, is at present conducting an investigation of this country's capabilities in the field of paramilitary warfare. This includes intelligence activities and guerrilla combat.

Kennedy ordered the inquiry after the failure of the Cuban refugee invasion which had a degree of support from the U.S. government.

Halcher was asked to comment on a report in today's New York Times that Kennedy is considering appointment of Taylor as White House military adviser. In effect that would make him a personal chief of staff to the President, Adm. William D. Leahy acted in that capacity for Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman.

The County Board of Education at Dunn, N.C., voted to admit 20 Indian pupils to the white high school, but refused to allow 20 Indian children to enter the white elementary school.

A negro woman at Riverdale, Utah, Mrs. James H. Gillespie, said she and her family will move into their new $15,000 home in a white neighborhood even though someone smeared the house with tar. Some negroes live in a housing development adjacent to the neighborhood.

DOROTHY DIX

She Forgave but Couldn't Forget

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My experience parallels that of so many women who write you. I had been a faithful wife for 27 years when I found out that my husband loved another woman.

Knowing a divorce would send him straight into her arms, I wondered why someone else be allowed to take what was rightfully mine. But first I had to be certain my husband still loved me.

Once he assured me he did, I got him and the woman together then told her his bad to stop for I was neither giving up my husband nor sharing him. She turned to him for reassurance. After a moment's silence he told her it would be like cutting off his right arm to walk out on me. That was 10 years ago. While I can never forget, it wasn't too hard to forgive. Never in all these 10 years have I ever brought up the subject again. Very few, not even my family, know.

My advice to wives confronted with a similar problem, is to forgive, take heart for their children's sakes and keep busy. Holding the family together will be their reward. Thank you for the good advice you give those in trouble. —M.

Though you didn't say so, I'm sure the love you and your husband have for each other was strengthened, rather than weakened, by your courageous handling of this difficult experience. Good for you

Dear Helen: I agree with you most emphatically that a mother who opens her child's letters is making a mistake. There is no need of repeating what you have already said on the subject. This letter is addressed to all who lack the moral strength to leave other people's mail alone.

I would like to point out to parents that the opening of your child's mail is a Federal offense. You have neither the moral nor legal right to do so. People who open mail not addressed to themselves fall into the same category as Peeping Toms. —J. F. Easton, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.

Dear Mr. Easton: It is reassuring to find that thinking people like yourself do see eye to eye with me on the question of parents opening their children's mail. Thank you for having the courage of your convictions.

Dear Helen: I am the good-natured type, ever doing for others and wouldn't want it different yet the neighbor I do most for leaves me and my husband out when she invites the others in for an evening. She must realize my feelings are hurt for when she calls next morning wanting something again, she's over-sweet pie. After three years I'm sick of being used. What shall I do? —Hurt.

Dear Hurt: Don't force a relationship. Some people are destined to be friends while others, however nice, just aren't. Say nothing to Mrs. Ungrateful but next time she seeks a favor politely give her the brush-off. There are plenty of congenial people in this world—too many in fact to curry favor with those who aren't.

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Neighbors."

Laos Princes Start Talks, Disagree

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—

The three rival princes of Laos began negotiations for a coalition government today and promptly disagreed.

Prince Souvanna Phouma, the self-styled neutralist who is the Communists' candidate to head a "national union" regime, announced that Prince Boun Oum, the conservative premier of the Western-backed royal government in Vientiane, plans to retire from politics.

A spokesman for Boun Oum denied the retirement report, saying Prince Souvanna Phouma failed to understand the prince's intentions. He added that "until now there has been no question" of Boun Oum's willingness to abandon power.

Concerning Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, the deputy premier and real power of the Vientian government, Souvanna said, "I will not admit the military into the government." He hinted that if Gen. Phoumi remained in politics, he would have to leave the army.

Souvanna's statement indicated of procedures to keep Laos peaceful if he heads the coalition government as expected, representatives of the conservative, pro-Western factions in Laos will take a back seat to Souvanna and his half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, the chief of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

The princes set a three-day limit on their session and said they would only work out general principles and policies, leaving the details to the East-West conference in Geneva and their own lesser-rank delegations meeting in Laos in the rebel-held jungle town of Ban Namone.

That procedure indicated that formation of a coalition regime is a long way off.

"We all agree that Laos should be neutral, sovereign and independent," Souvanna Phouma said.

Formation of a national union regime made up of all the South-east Asian kingdom's warring factions would enable the country to send a single delegation to the Geneva conference, which is bogged down by Communist refusal to expand the powers of the International Control Commission in Laos so that it can check on continuing Pathet Lao attacks in violation of the cease-fire.

A coalition government presumably would result in a quick end to military activity, and the Geneva conference then could get on with its main task—creation of procedures to keep Laos peaceful if he heads the coalition gov-

U. S. May Be Set to Send Up Chimp
By ROBERT MYERS
HICKAM AIR FORCE BASE, Hawaii (AP) — Success of parachuting skindivers in recovering a Discoverer capsule ejected from space may mean the U.S. Air Force is ready to put a chimpanzee into global orbit.

The Air Force said it was thoroughly pleased with the recovery by a team of skindivers who leaped 1,000 feet into the Pacific near Hawaii Sunday to retrieve an instrument-packed capsule. The data-gathering capsule was ejected from orbiting Discoverer XV after a space ride of 50 hours and 3 minutes.

The skindivers and their prize were to be picked up by a U.S. Navy destroyer today and delivered to Pearl Harbor. The capsule will then be flown to Sunnyvale, Calif., for analysis of information it gathered while circling the earth.

The Discoverer package fell north of the planned impact spot and waiting Air Force planes were unable to make an aerial catch. But that didn't dampen the Air Force's jubilation.

"Recovery by the skin divers really worked," said a spokesman. "We know now we can get anything that comes back from space."

Three skindivers, training for months for a chance at recovery, parachuted with a rubber life raft to take the capsule in tow. They rolled it into the raft and then climbed aboard and settled down to wait the arrival of the destroyer Radford, scheduled to reach them about 12 noon EST.

The recovery was the fifth success in the Discoverer series. Three earlier capsules were snagged by C119 Flying Boxcars utilizing trapeze-like hooks and a fourth was fished out of the Pacific by a Pacific Missile Range telemetry ship.

The capsule carried samples of metals to determine their ability and reaction in outer space. The specimens of gold, iron, bismuth, titanium, cadmium, magnesium, nickel and strontium will be studied by Air Force scientists.

Also aboard the 2,100-pound satellite were three Geiger counters to monitor cosmic radiation. Iron and microphone density gauges were attached outside the capsule to measure "other space phenomena," the Air Force said.

Snow in Sicily
CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — Snow fell today on sweltering Sicily's 10,705 foot Mt. Etna. Hail also fell on villages at the foot of the great volcano during a sudden storm.

Young Faubus Doesn't Draw Opposition
By WICK TEMPLE
HUNTSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Farrell Faubus, 22, politically a carbon copy of his controversial father, Gov. Orval E. Faubus, is diving into politics at the grass roots level.

Young Faubus, a first-year law student at the University of Arkansas, is the only candidate for state representative from Madison County in a June 27 special election.

He filed 30 minutes before the Saturday noon deadline. There could be a write-in candidate, but Farrell doesn't expect one.

"But I'm going to campaign just as if I had an opponent," said the vigorous, husky young man. "I'm going to get out and shake hands and talk to people, beginning today."

The governor said he had neither encouraged nor discouraged his son. "But he's wanted to go into politics," Faubus said. "He might as well get his feet wet."

Farrell was born in mountainous Madison County (pop. 9,700) in northwest Arkansas and has lived here all his life. He was a star tackle on the Huntsville High School football team and has worked as an advance publicity man in all four of his father's successful gubernatorial campaigns.

"My political views line up with dad's," he said. "I have a political philosophy that says when you're elected by the people, you have to represent the people."

"Even if you don't like what you have to do, if the people want you to do it, you must."

The elder Faubus said he was following the wishes of the people in 1957 when he called out National Guard troops to keep nine Negro students out of Little Rock Central High School.

President Eisenhower sent federal paratroopers to get them in, and the violence that followed made Faubus a world figure.

In those troubled days, Farrell was a student at Arkansas Tech in Russellville, 75 miles away. He later attended Little Rock University, then took two years of pre-law work at Arkansas before entering law school this year.

He'll keep up his work at Fayetteville while he's representing Madison County in the legislature.

"The only thing I'm worried about," Farrell said, "is that people may look at me as junior—my dad's son — and won't recognize any talents I have."

Farrell will be filling out the unexpired term of A. C. Mowery, who resigned to become state director of the Federal Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. His term will run until the fall of 1963.

"That doesn't include any regular legislative sessions," Farrell said, "but most of the work of a good representative is done outside the legislature."

He will get his first legislative experience next month in a special session on financing. It was made necessary when the state Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional Gov. Faubus' $14.5 million omnibus construction act.

Farrell said he would like to be governor some day, but right now he's only interested in "this election." He doesn't know if he will run again in 1963—that will depend on how law school is going. He had a C average this semester and wants to get his degree in 2 1/2 years. He talks of one day setting up a law practice in Huntsville.

"But there's a lot to be done in this county," he said. "We need some more highway work—we've always been a little behind. And there are other things."

Farrell and his wife, the former Martha Jo Caldwell of Huntsville, have their home here. They were married 18 months ago, and have no children.

The governor said one of Farrell's main worries was whether his candidacy would hurt his father politically. "I told him I don't think it will hurt any on a statewide basis," the governor said. "If more than one Democrat had run, it might have hurt our friends."

"He talked with me about it, but it was his own idea and his decision," Faubus said.

Both father and son have the middle name Eugene.

The younger Faubus is well-liked in Madison County in his own right, said County Clerk Charley Whorton.

"We feel about Farrell the same way we feel about his dad," Whorton said. "And you know how that is."

Honeymoon Is Over for the President

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was getting too quiet around here, anyway.

For his first five months in office President Kennedy had the usual quiet honeymoon period to catch his breath and get used to his job except for some interruptions like these.

The Cuban invasion disaster the decision to examine the Central Intelligence Agency, the gradual loss of Laos, the call for an armistice in Laos which never really came, the nuclear test talks which got nowhere, the day-by-day struggle in Congress to get his program through, the steady stream of visitors like British Prime Minister Macmillan, the stunning army takeover in Korea, the visit to Canada, the encores, and now the beginning of President de Gaulle of France and Premier Khrushchev of Russia, his TV report to the nation on his journey, his news conferences, and now the beginning of his hard-hosed dealings with Khrushchev.

But the honeymoon is over and before the end of 1961 Kennedy probably will look back on his first five months as the good old days.

Over the weekend the Republicans, who've been potshotting him for months on domestic matters began aiming a this conduct of foreign affairs.

And Khrushchev, extraordinarily restrained through most of Kennedy's brief presidency, has now as much as told him "These next six months are going to be lulu."

Khrushchev was talking about Berlin.

Kennedy's administration fired a shot at Khrushchev, telling him that if he doesn't get with it in the talks in Geneva to agree on banning nuclear tests, the United States will have to start testing.

Today American and Soviet representatives were supposed to get together to lay plans for talks on disarmament.

But since the Americans and Russians can't even agree on how each can be sure the other won't cheat—if they agree to stop nuclear testing—it's a cinch they won't agree on disarmament.

That Kennedy's next six months in the White House—besides his continuing struggle with Congress—will be a propaganda carnival on both sides, each blaming the other, for the sake of world opinion, for not agreeing on practicing anything.

If the United States goes ahead with nuclear tests it will first have to try to convince the world it was all brought about by Russian obstinacy. The Russians will be busy doing the same on their side.

None of it may be very enlightening, and all of it will get tiresome, and the only astonishment will be in the realization, looking back, that both sides were comparatively quiet so long.

Maris Slams 26th Homer as Yanks Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Maris hit his 26th home run as the New York Yankees defeated Kansas City 6-2 Tuesday night and replaced Cleveland in second place in the American League pennant race. Detroit retained a 1 1/2-game lead, however, with a 5-4 victory at Washington. Cleveland lost 5-3 to the Chicago White Sox.

Boston made it six straight by beating the Los Angeles Angels 11-8. Minnesota defeated Baltimore 5-4.

In the National League, Cincinnati split a two-night pair with St. Louis, winning 4-3 in 11 innings, then losing 6-3, but kept a 1 1/2-game lead. The Los Angeles Dodgers replaced San Francisco in second place by beating the Chicago Cubs 3-0. The Giants lost 2-1 at Milwaukee. Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia 6-2.

The Yankees beat the A's with three-run bursts in the third and fifth innings. Mickey Mantle's single drove in the clincher in the third. Maris' homer off loser Joe Nuxhall, and Bill Skowron's two-run double took care of the scoring in the fifth.

Al Kaline, an outfield star playing his first game at third base, drove in two runs for the Tigers, bringing in the winner with a fifth-inning single. Kaline, filling in at third while Steve Boros and Chico Fernandez nurse leg injuries, handed two chances perfectly in the field.

The White Sox, climbing into sixth place with their 11th victory in 12 games, beat the Indians with a five-run first inning. J. C. Martin's three-run homer capped the outburst that handed seven-game winner Mudecat Grant his first defeat.

Rookie Carl Yastrzemski drove in five runs for the Red Sox with a home run and three singles in his first four trips. Bill Monbouquette (7-6) was the winner, but needed relief help after giving up home runs by Leon Wagner, Earl Averill and Steve Bilko.

A ninth-inning homer by pinch-hitter Julio Becquer did it for the Twins and beat reliever Jack Fisher (2-8) after the Orioles had tied it 4-all in their ninth on Earl Robinson's three-run homer.

IOC Split on Sports Decision

By EUGENE LEVIN

ATHENS (AP)—The International Olympic Committee today went into its last day of meetings still faced with the thorny problem of deciding the sports for the 1964 summer Olympics in Tokyo. The IOC, which has been holding its annual session here, is being asked to choose between judo, volleyball, canoeing and the modern pentathlon.

If it decides to have 20 sports on the Tokyo program, the decision will be easy. There will be room for all four. But if the IOC sticks to 18 sports, as there were at Rome last year, then two of the four disputed sports must be eliminated.

The Japanese organizers of the games want to drop canoeing and the modern pentathlon. European countries and some South American nations are fighting to retain these two sports. Most IOC members want to hold the program to 18 sports. Discussion of the question took up most of the IOC sessions Tuesday.

The IOC approved the program for the 1964 winter game in Innsbruck, Austria. It also set the dates for the winter games, from Jan. 29, to Feb. 9, and for the Tokyo summer games, from Oct. 11-23.

Tackles Are Vanishing in Conference

By VERNON BUTLER

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A few more defections and Southeastern Conference football coaches will be hiring security guards to save what is left of their tackle prospects.

In rapid fire order, three of the top tackles in the conference succumbed to books or the lure of playing for cash in the past week. "I wish we could find a vaccine for this sort of thing," said an assistant coach at one of the SEC schools. "It could get to be an epidemic."

Ken Frost, rated as Tennessee's most valuable lineman in 1960, encountered scholastic roadblock and announced last Friday he would detour to the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League. Frost, 6-foot-4 and 240 pounds, and father of four, was held out one season and was thus eligible for the professionals when felled by classroom shortcomings.

Two days later, Georgia Tech's right side caved in a bit when Ed Nutting, 240-pounder, said he would forego his last year of college eligibility to try his hand with the Cleveland Browns.

Nutting satisfied the professors but he explained, "I have to look

Travelers Split Pair With Mobile

By VERNON BUTLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Manager Spencer Robbins ought to dip into his Nashville bull pen more often. Seems that when he converts a reliever into a starter, a victory always results.

It happened when Oscar Chinique, the Cuban right-hander, deserted the fire brigade in the early stages of the Southern Association race. And it happened again last night when Robbins called on John Romonsky in order to rest weary Vol pitchers who had been undergoing a siege of doubleheaders.

Romonsky responded with a six-hitter and shut out the Macon Peaches 4-0. He struck out six batters and he walked nobody. He thus improved his season record to 3-2 and lifted the Vols into a virtual tie with Little Rock for fourth place.

Little Rock whipped Mobile 8-4 in the second game of a doubleheader after the Bears had taken the opener 4-2. Atlanta and Shreveport also split a doubleheader. The Sport won the first game 3-0 when right-hander Dale Willis pitched his third shutout. Atlanta struck back behind solid pitching by Ken Rowe to take the second game 9-4.

Birmingham and Chattanooga, who were to settle a first-place tie, were rained out and carded a doubleheader for tonight.

Concerned With Own Performance

BOSTON (AP)—John Thomas isn't too concerned with the current controversy about whether or not Russian Valery Brumel has broken his world high jump record.

"That's fine," John said when he heard of Brumel's 2.23 meter at this thing in the light of what will be best for me in the five years."

Florida lost a big one Monday when 260-pound Frank Lusky was denied permission to enter summer school to make up scholastic deficiencies. Lusky, a star on Florida's undefeated 1959 freshman team, failed to make the grades last year, but coaches had hoped he would get by this time. He was a first stringer in spring practice.

leap Sunday in Moscow. "But I'm more concerned with my own performance than with Brumel's."

Thomas holds the recognized world standard of 7 feet, 3 inches. There is some confusion just how Brumel's leap will be measured because it must be converted to feet and inches—it comes to 7 feet, 3 4/5 inches—and according to U.S. standards reduced to the next lowest quarter of an inch. That would make Thomas and Brumel even at 7-3 1/4.

Thomas is more interested in getting himself primed for the AAU meet in New York, this weekend and subsequent events in Europe in which he will again meet Brumel in competition. Brumel defeated him in three meets last winter.

Redlegs Split But Remain in First Place

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds split a two-night doubleheader with St. Louis Tuesday night, but remained in first place by 1 1/2 games in the National League pennant race. The Reds won their sixth in a row with a 4-3, 11-inning victory in the opener, then lost 6-3 as Cards ended Joey Jay's winning streak at eight games.

The Los Angeles Dodgers took over second, winning 3-0 at Chicago behind the two-hit pitching of Sandy Koufax. San Francisco slipped to third with a 2-1 defeat at Milwaukee as Warren Spahn won No. 296 with a four-hitter. Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 6-2. In the American League, Detroit beat Washington 5-4 and kept a 1 1/2-game lead. The New York Yankees took over second place with a 6-2 victory at Kansas City after Cleveland slipped to third with a 5-3 defeat by the Chicago White Sox. Boston belted the Los Angeles Angels 11-8 and Minnesota beat Baltimore 5-4.

The Cardinals, hanging on to fifth place by mere percentage points over Milwaukee, tagged Jay (8-4) for eight of their 12 hits in the nightcap. Charlie James drove in two runs, bringing in the clincher with a double in a two-run sixth inning.

Cincinnati blew a 2-0 lead in the opener when Carl Sawatski hit a three-run pinch homer off Jay Hook in the seventh inning. But the Reds bounced back and tied it in the ninth on a pinch single by Jerry Lynch, then beat reliever Bob Miller (1-1) when he forced home a run with a bases-loaded walk in the 11th.

The Braves backed Spahn with homers by Hank Aaron in the sixth inning and Frank Bolling in the eighth in coming from behind against Mike McCormick (7-6).

Dick Stuart and Don Hook belted two-run homers for the Cardinals, handing right-hander Art Maloney (6-7) his fourth straight defeat. Lefty Harvey Haddix (5-2) shut out the Phils on four hits for eight innings, then needed relief help from Elroy Face in the ninth.

Three singles, by John Roseboro, Maury Wills and Charlie Neal, and an error gave the Dodgers all three runs in the seventh and beat Glen Hobbie (4-8). Kalfax (10-3), the first pitcher to win 10 in the NL this season, didn't allow a hit until Ernie Banks singled with two out in the seventh

IT'S MELON CUTTIN' TIME IN ARKANSAS

WITH $20,000,000.00 IN SURPLUS WHY DO WE NEED A BOND DEAL?

Since the Arkansas Supreme Court has ruled the "Pork Barrel" Omnibus Bill UNCONSTITUTIONAL, the State Treasury now has a cash surplus more than adequate to take care of the immediate needs supposed to be covered by the BOND DEAL! Why benefit the favored few with high interest rates, attorney's fees, paying agent's fees, etc., when Arkansas has CASH IN THE BANK TO DO THE JOB?

ARKANSAS CAN PAY FOR REAL NEEDS, BUT NOT WASTE!

A special session of the legislature can work out the details and begin immediately to take care of the state's legitimate construction needs. LET'S USE OUR CASH WISELY AND AVOID MAKING THE FAVORED FEW RICH WITH EXCESSIVE INTEREST RATES AND FEES!
